NEWS AND COMMENT.

McKINLY will enter the Speakership race with fifty votes to start on.

SENATOR WADE HAMPTON don't think "Protection for protection's sake" is growing in the South.

WONDER what Dr. GRISSOM thinks of public opinion in North Carolina and Gov. FOWLE thrown in?

TOM EVANS, of the Reidsville Review, says it's all a mistake that Gov. FOWLE dances the german; he cuts the pigeon wing.

If "coming events cast their shadows before," the cotton bagging has come to stay, while jute must take a back seat in North Carolina, at least.

HARRISON has begun the first preparation of his first message to Congress, which will likely be called to meet about the latter part of October.

THE new-fangled "Elixir of Life," if tampered with by inexperienced persons, will prove as deadly to human lives as the "toy pistol in the hands of a small boy."

THE Republicans of Virginia have named BILLY MAHONE as their standard bearer, and the hottest fight for political honors in the old Dominion State will soon be on.

"A CHEERLESS arrival at night in the city of his home" is the way the Herald speaks of President HARRISON's return to Indianapolis on the evening of the 22nd inst.

THE month of August will be memorable in political history for the number of Democratic scalps taken in the 3rd Auditor's office at Washington. Several North Carolinians' heads will "go into the basket" about this time.

THE Buffalo Courier thinks "in the event of Republican success in the legislative elections this fall and the coming year, the most probable successor of Mr. EVARTS as a United States Senator will be THOS. C. PLATT."

THE celebrated actress, MARY ANDERSON, settles the question of her sanity by writing a long letter to a Philadelphia friend describing the dresses which she saw at a recent London reception. Thus the experts are knocked out again.

SCORE another victory for the old Tar-Heel State. A new use has been found for yellow pine lumber. The Germans experimenting with various materials for street pavements have found this wood to be the most durable against granite, which in certain instances was twice replaced, while the yellow pine still continued in good condition.

NOT content with the present burdensome and iniquitous revenue laws, the HARRISON administration has issued a notice that hereafter distilleries will not be permitted to use barrels or casks a second time, as the repeated removal of stamps, brands and bungs so changes the shape of the casks that the contents cannot be ascertained by gauges.

JUDGE DAVID DAVIS, with whom many of the readers of the OBSERVER are more or less familiar, once said: "Each year the local paper gives from $500 to $5,000 in free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men."

TARIFF reform Democrats of Missouri held a grand mass-meeting a few days ago, and after eulogizing CLEVELAND solemnly resolved that "this meeting shall be the beginning of a series of annual meetings to be held at this place in the interest of tariff reform, and that we urge upon the citizens of this State and of every county and State in this nation the importance of beginning at once a campaign of education, so that the people may be enlightened as to the nefarious and hypocritical workings of that iniquitous and robber protective tariff system, and will rise in their might and shake off the shackles that bind them to pay tribute to the plutocrat, the monopolist and the millionnaire under the flimsy and fraudulent cry of "Protection to American industries."

"THE mills of the gods grind slow, but they grind exceeding small." Naturally identified with the South in her agricultural and commercial interests, the great West should have been our political ally in the great party struggles of the past twenty-five years. The people of those immense States and Territories have chosen to permit selfish leaders to inflame their hearts with sectional hatred; they have chosen to be led by the monopolists of the New England and Middle States; they have chosen to accept the false dogmas of protection and the heresies of high-tariff and for them "there is retribution in history." Agriculture in that naturally rich section is languishing and unprofitable, and the Western farmers are crying out that their burden of debt is too great to be borne.

EUROPEAN TRAVEL.

A Pleasant Sea-Voyage—Bonnie Scotland—Parliamentary Debates, Etc.

Extracts from a Private Letter.]

To begin at the beginning, our voyage across the Atlantic, though somewhat lengthy, was a very pleasant one. The list of names of my fellow-tourists has been published, and I need not assure you that a more refined, cultivated and intelligent company was never thrown together for a trip across the ocean.

After the usual amount of sea-sickness was over—and only eight or ten of our number escaped an attack of it—the entire trip was a social feast, varied with readings, recitations, speeches, concerts both vocal and instrumental, and games. For six days of the trip we plowed through a dense fog, with never a gleam of sunshine.

We tarried but one day in Glasgow, but long enough to see everything of special interest in that modern-built but rather uninteresting city. On Saturday, the 20th of July, we pushed on to Edinboro via the Trossachs and Stirling Castle, through as wild and picturesque scenery as ever delighted the eyes of a lover of nature.

I am not going to try your patience with the details of our journey. If you care for such things you will find in the Raleigh News and Observer—in nearly every issue, I think—a letter written by some one of the party, it having been arranged to have twenty-one written—one for each day of our stay in Europe. Suffice it to say that I am convinced of the truth of a remark once made to me by a returned tourist, that "whoever makes the tour of Europe and leaves out Scotland makes a great mistake."

We have been in London for nearly a week, and shall have completed the "itinerary" for this place by Tuesday, when we leave for Paris. Four or five of our party were able to get tickets of admission to the Houses of Parliament to hear the debates—a privilege which can be accorded to but few, as the space allotted to visitors is quite limited. I was fortunate enough to be one of the number, through the influence of a friend who has a brother-in-law in the lower house.

The Lords impressed me as a stupid set of fellows, who regard dul ness as essential to dignity. Through the kindness of one of the attendants, stimulated by a shilling I slipped into his hand—the average Englishman dearly loves a "tip"—I was partially introduced to the most notable among them, including the Marquis of Salisbury and the Lord High Chancellor. That is, he pointed them out to me by name; if he had pointed me out to them in the same way, the introduction would have been complete.

Quite different in point of interest was my visit to the Commons; here there was life, even excitement. An interesting debate was going on on the question of the "Royal Grants." The Queen, with the prospect of an increase in her domestic responsibilities—her granddaughter was married yesterday to the Earl of Fife—had petitioned Parliament for an additional allowance of £40,000—a measure which met with violent opposition from an able and respectable minority.

Churchill, the acknowledged leader of the Conservatives, had characterized the Opposition, in an after-dinner speech, as "mean, sordid and disgraceful." Bradlaugh—after Gladstone, the ablest man in the House, and more eloquent than Gladstone—quoted the words, and replied in a speech of an hour, which, for keen but courteous sarcasm, I have never heard surpassed. I had not time to hear all of Churchill's reply, but enough of it to convince me that he was no match for his opponent.

Gladstone had delivered himself of his speech the day before, so I did not hear him, but he sat directly in front of me, and I had a good opportunity of studying him. His appearance does not belie his age, for he looks older than any picture I have seen of him would indicate. To look down upon him from the gallery, with his somewhat emaciated figure and bald but magnificent head, one could hardly imagine him as the leader of a great party—the foremost man of his time. He must have wonderful force and vitality, for they say that the speech which he made a few days ago, on the occasion of his golden wedding, was a master-piece of eloquence.

I am booked to return home on the State of Pennsylvania, to sail from Glasgow on the 16th of August, one week later than the rest of the party. I have planned a trip to Switzerland and down the Rhine, which will consume a week, and I hope to get home by the 1st of September.

What Was the Name?

Goshen in New Berne Journal.]

Many of us are interested in the question: What was the name and what the date of publication of the first newspaper in North Carolina? Perhaps you or some other New Bernean may have access to some old, dusty record or testimony that will enable you to answer the question.

It is amusing to see how Moore, Wiley and Wheeler disagree in their statements concerning the interesting matter. All accord to New Berne the honor of having the first press in the State, it having been set up by James Davis in 1749, but they differ as to date and name of publication. According to Moore, the first paper was published in 1765, and was called the North Carolina Magazine and Universal Intelligencer. Wheeler, after mentioning the importation of the first press by Davis, adds that his first paper was called the North Carolina Gazette, without telling us the date of its beginning. Wiley agrees with Moore as to the name, and states that the first number of the paper appeared on the 1st day of June, 1764.

Now, who can tell from the foregoing either the name of the paper or the date of its publication?

"Yes," said the Colonel, as he returned his glass to the counter, "the true soldier, gentlemen, is never averse to discipline. No matter how objectionable orders from a superior officer may be, they must be obeyed promptly and without question. The true soldier never——"

"Pa," said the Colonel's little boy, opening the door, "ma says to come home right away."

"Gentlemen," said the Colonel, "good day."

Bjohnson—By the way, did you ever see the sun rise, Bjenks? Bjenks—No, Bjohnson, I can't say that I ever did. I think I have always been in bed before that.

A Breezy Letter from Duplin.

For the Observer.]

MR. EDITOR:—The name of Kenansville has associated with it pleasant recollections to many of your readers. This quiet though attractive little town, situated 7 miles from W. & W. R. R., may not have the wealth that it possessed in ante bellum days, but the social, religious and intellectual advantages are, we suppose, superior even to those enjoyed by our fathers and mothers thirty years ago.

I need not tell you, Mr. Editor, of the unbounded liberality and hospitality of the Kenansville people, nor is it necessary for me to speak of how generous nature has been in the distribution of her gifts to Duplin's county-seat; for of these things all have heard.

Many have drunk the pure water from her far-famed spring, have promenaded 'neath the shady trees and over the green lawns; have admired and loved the pretty girls for which old Duplin and especially Kenansville is noted.

No place, then, could have been chosen better suited for teachers to assemble and spend a few weeks in pursuing the different branches of learning.

Prof. W. M. Shaw, County Superintendent, conceived the plan of the summer school and has made it eminently practical and successful. Lessons are assigned and the teachers recite just as pupils in a school. The Socratic method of mutual conference is used in preference to the formal lecture. This plan of teaching we think meets the wants of our teachers much more satisfactorily than the plans adopted by our larger assemblies.

Prof. Shaw has for his assistant that walking encyclopedia, B. F. Grady. Mr. Grady graduated at Chapel Hill about '59 or '60, and has been a hard student ever since. As a linguist, scientist, or as a man of literary attainments, he has probably no superior in the State.

Prof. Noble will be with them in a few days, and the feasts of mind will continue for a week or more.

The high school for boys and girls opens September 9th, and your correspondent hopes at that time to again visit the people who have made his short stay in their midst so pleasant. PEDAGOGUE.

Kenansville. N. C., Aug. 15.

Lumber Bridge.

For the Observer.]

MR. EDITOR:—Near the centre of the settlement of the Scotch race in the historic county of Robeson, about midway between Fayetteville and Maxton, has grown up within a few years the progressive little village of Lumber Bridge. Practical in name, with a practical and intelligent population it bids fair to rival many of its sister towns on the thriving C. F. & Y. V. R'y.

The first object to attract a visitor's attention on stepping from the train a day or two ago was the internal improvements going on about the place. The town is being accurately and conveniently laid off under the direction of that versatile and obliging gentleman, Mr. T. L. Bass.

The Messrs. Shaw conduct the only merchandise business in the place, but supply all that the trade calls for, and seem to be doing a good business.

Other busy places are the cooper-shop and turpentine distillery—both doing a good business.

Messrs. A. J. & J. W. Hall, with their 20 by 25 feet blacksmith shop and two story carriage and buggy manufactory and general repair shops give an air of importance to the town which it could ill afford to lose. Messrs. Hall also do a good business in the repairing of watches and jewelry.

The hotel has changed hands, and will be conducted in future under the management of Mrs. Isabella Lamont.

The Lumber Bridge High School, under that competent principal, Prof. J. A. Monroe, has been reopened with a good outlook for the ensuing session. Situated as it is on an elevated plateau, with its well-fitted up class-rooms and energetic teachers, together with a well-arranged and thorough course of study, it is now the pride of the community.

A few rods distant, in the same grove, is the Presbyterian church, an imposing two story structure, nicely furnished, having a body of live and active officers and an efficient pastor to look after the congregation who attend there.

The health of the community is well looked after by Dr. F. H. McLean. H.

Choosing a Profession.

Youth's Companion.]

Twenty years ago Thomas Scott, of Pennsylvania, one of the shrewdest of railway men, spent a few days in a country village. An active, bright-faced boy in the house where he boarded attracted his notice. He asked the school-master what was the capacity of the lad.

"He is dull," was the reply; "thick-headed and incapable, though willing enough to learn. His father wishes to make a chemist of him, but he cannot master the first principles of science."

Mr. Scott, watching the lad, observed that in the affairs of daily life his judgment was clear and just, and his observation keen. He showed, too, a singular faculty for managing his school-fellows. The boy's parents were induced to take him from school, and Mr. Scott gave him work in the yard of a railway.

"Now," he said, "you have no longer to deal with books, but with things and men. Make your own way. I believe you can do it."

It was the first time the boy had been told that he was not wholly a dolt. He proved to be energetic, intelligent, and enthusiastic in his work. There was a certain firmness and cordiality in his manner which gave him control over his associates. He was soon sent out upon the road in charge of a gang of men. A few years later, when Mr. Scott came that way again, the young man was superintendent of a division. He afterwards rose steadily to the front rank of his profession.

A boy is too apt to be influenced in the choice of his life-work by some accident or petty motive. His father and grandfather have been successful physicians, or manufacturers, or butchers, and it seems natural and right for him to follow in their footsteps. Or his intimate friend at college is going to study law, and he must do the same.

Sometimes a pious father and mother cherish a fond hope that the boy will devote his life to preaching the gospel, and, rather than disappoint them, he does it, with no real zeal in the work.

In each case the lad's life is a failure for the want of a little deliberation and a careful examination of his natural abilities.

The Tree George Washington Marked.

Charleston News and Courier.]

Before arriving at Capon Springs, W. Va., about half a mile from the spring, a narrow way is seen leading directly across the road, in one direction toward Winchester, in the other, toward the distant Ohio. The way was made by the order of Gen. Braddock to facilitate the march of his army during the last French and Indian war which preceded the Revolution. Washington was then on Braddock's staff, serving with the rank of Colonel. A tradition is carefully preserved that he and Braddock drank at the beauty spring, which spring was well known to the Indians, and deemed by them to have great medicinal properties, especially for rheumatism. The Indian maidens were supposed to be quite fond of walking in its waters on account of the silken character which it imparts to the skin.

But the great curiosity of Capon is the tree, the only tree remaining, which has the surveyor's mark made by Washington when he measured the Fairfax estate for its ancient lord. Capt. Vale, the proprietor of the springs, on whose lands it has stood for so long, on account of an accident which has happened to it has had it hewn down and brought to the path where it is to be set up, with proper marks for recognition.

Such a relic ought to be in possession of the National Museum at Washington. It is the only relic of the kind which relates to the early life of Washington, long before the era of his fame, when he wandered through the woods of Virginia unknown only on his profession.

A New Use for Watermelons.

New Orleans Times.]

The watermelon crop of Carolina, Georgia and Florida is rapidly getting too large—more than the market requires. Col. William Duncan, of South Carolina, has therefore made a suggestion, which has received the approval of a number of Carolina newspapers and melon growers—this is the manufacture of a syrup from the melon. Col. Duncan insists that the melon can be more easily and more generally raised than the sugar cane, and as it grows above ground it is more conveniently cultivated than the sugar beet. He has experimented in the manufacture of syrup from melons, and finds it excellent, more like preserves than the cane syrup, he says, and likely to become popular with every one who tries it. He has made and sold it, and found no difficulty in getting a good price for it.

[The writer of the above is evidently of post bellum issue, for in the old Confederate times we were regaled on watermelon syrup over and over again. Nay, we more than once moistened the selvage of our thirsting soul with water-melon brandy, which—excepting, perhaps, the inscrutable beverage manufactured from the Chinaberry—was the worst stuff we ever laid our tongue to—ED. Abuse of the Eye.

The abuse of the eye is the crime of the age. I am prepared to demonstrate that at least nine tenths of the prevailing sleeplessness of which we hear so much is due to nervousness directly traceable to the optic nerve. We are wearing out our eyes over books, desks and types, and the effect shows itself not only in the appearance of the organ itself, but in its retroactive effect on nerve and brain. I have a remedy for sleeplessness, and for the reason that I have never known it to fail I am fortified in my opinion that the whole trouble arises from overstrain of the eyes. Take a soft cloth—say a piece of napped towel—and fold in it two small pieces of ice at a proper distance apart to exactly cover the eyes when the cloth is laid across them. Then lie down and adjust the cloth with the ice over the closed eyes, and you will be asleep in a very short while.—Ex.

THURSDAY.....AUGUST 29, 1889.

THE NEW BOARD.

The New Board of Directors of the North Carolina Insane Asylum met in Raleigh on Thursday last—present: Messrs. Amis, Biggs, Broadfoot, Cooke, Foote, Kirby, McCormick, Smith and Womack. On motion, Mr. R. H. Smith was chosen chairman.

The resignation of Dr. Eugene Grissom was offered and accepted, to take effect on the 11th prox., and it was resolved to confer with the authorities of the Western Insane Asylum, to procure, if possible, the services of a competent assistant until such officer shall be elected by the board.

LORD, DELIVER US!

The Northern protectionists, through the National Republican League, have decided to raid the South and South-West next year, through Nashville, Tenn., in which city it was lately decided at Saratoga to hold the next annual meeting of the League.

Magnates, monopolists and "money-devils" are to invade us by the Pullman palace-car load; they are to din our ears with protection speeches, besiege us with high tariff heresies, and belabor us with countless documents for our conversion from the error of our ways; the "solid South" is to be irretrievably broken by the inodus of these political empiricists, who are to be brought down into this wilderness solely from their love for their erring brethren of the Southern States.

Here and there they will be feted and caressed, as they stumble across some little "rotten borough" of a protection clique (they will be treated with civility and courtesy everywhere); but we predict such "cold comfort" as the fruit of the invasion that their abuse of us on their return home will far surpass the eagerness of their coming. As Senator Vance once said of a similar irruption:—

"They'll eat my victuals and they 'll drink my tea,
Then go about town and talk about me."

Rev. John Huske.

The following—in relation to one whom we all love for his admirable qualities and esteem for the ability which he has shown in his exalted calling—is taken from the Erie Herald:

St. Paul's Church was filled yesterday morning with a large congregation. The advent of the new rector, Rev. John Huske, has long been looked forward to with expectancy by the parishioners. Any man would have been proud of the congregation that gathered in St. Paul's, and Mr. Huske would have been more than human had he not. Mr. Huske's appearance in the chancel is one that gives the idea of simplicity and quiet power—power that when aroused accomplishes great things, and begets confidence and friendship. His preaching is plain and forcible, lacking flowers of rhetoric, but all the stronger for that and for its feeling.

Prof. H. E. Shepherd.

We note always with pleasure the laurels worn by our gifted citizens abroad; and the following notice, taken from the Charleston News and Courier, of a native of Fayetteville, and one of the most scholarly and cultured men of the South, will be perused with interest by our readers:

The Sauveur Summer School at Burlington, Vt., in which President Shepherd, of the College of Charleston, fills the chair of English Literature, has recently closed a most successful session. Prof. Shepherd's class was one of the largest in the institution, and was composed of teachers from all sections of the country.

The English Literature class on August 6th celebrated the 80th birthday of Alfred Tennyson. Prof. Shepherd presided, and made an address on the Poet Laureate's place in literature which was enthusiastically received; for probably no Southerner, excepting Poe, has made so close and appreciative a study of and has such an exalted admiration for Tennyson as Prof. Shepherd.

"Only a Beginning."

Not long since we spoke of the excellent work accomplished in behalf of the Johnstown sufferers through the efforts of Mr. F. S. Deming, formerly of this city; and the following letter from Atlantic City, N. J., on the same subject, bearing date of 13th ult., is self-explanatory:

EDS. OBSERVER:—In a recent issue of your paper we noticed what Mr. F. S. Deming, a native of Fayetteville, had done for the Johnstown people. Now, the $500 mentioned was only a beginning. Up to date the amount distributed through his influence has reached the sum of $3,500—about $2,000 in cash, and the remainder in furniture, clothing and provisions—all of which was judiciously distributed, the money in sums of from $10 to $500; the last-named sum was forwarded to Miss Helen W. Hinckly, the heroine of Johnstown, and Miss Clara Barton, of Red Cross, received $100.

It is a life work with Mr. Deming to do all he can for his fellow-men. He has spent the past few Sundays at Atlantic City with the Johnstown people, many of whom have been sent here by friends, and has done all in his power to make them forget their sufferings, opening his house to their reception, etc.

We, the writers, are from Johnstown, have received many kindnesses from Mr. Deming, and thought we would let you know what your former citizen has done for our people.

Very respectfully,
JOSEPH LORENTZ,
KATE HIGSON,
CARRIE HIGSON,
JESSIE WALTERS,
CARRIE MOORE,
ANNIE HARRIS.

The associate editor hopes to visit Bennettsville, Maxton and other points on the line of railway next week, with the design of noting matters of interest in and around these places, and giving his friends an opportunity of placing their names on the subscription books of the leading paper of the Cape Fear section.

THE STATE FRUIT FAIR.

Seventh Annual Exhibit—Address of Welcome—Excellent Display, &c.

From the Winston papers we collate the salient points of interest of the State Fruit Fair, held in that city last week.

The address of welcome was delivered by Mr. A. B. Eller, and was a speech of rare merit, force and eloquence—listened to with delight by the large crowd in attendance.

Among the exhibitors Messrs. G. W. Lawrence and J. S. Breece, of Cumberland, received prominent mention, the former displaying beautiful grapes, and the latter a remarkably full and handsome collection of apples, pears, peaches, scuppernongs, plums, Japanese persimmons and figs, characterized by the reporter as "one of the most complete in the hall."

Guilford county probably led in the exhibit, and J. Van Lindley was foremost from that section, Messrs. J. F. Fields, John Young and G. W. Anthony being also large exhibitors.

An interesting and attractive feature of the Fair was the excellent music rendered by the Salem Band and the Salem Orchestra, under the leadership of Profs. Markgraff and Crouse.

On the street in front of the Exhibit the fat baby from Clemmonsville was on exhibition. It is a whopper for its months, and at a dime a head had quite a number of visitors. The child is named Zeb Vance Tise and is only 10 months old last Thursday. At date of birth it weighed 9 pounds. Now it tips the beam at 51½ pounds, measures 32 inches around and 3 feet 3½ inches in height. The youngster does not feed on anything except what he nurses. The father's age at birth of child was 22 years, that of the mother 19 years, and the weight of the latter 125 pounds. This is a brief history of Forsyth's human monstrosity.

CATASTROPHE IN TENNESSEE.

The rear coach of the first train running over a new road from Knoxville, Tenn., to Cumberland Gap, was thrown from the track, and 3 persons were killed and 28 wounded—all prominent citizens of Knoxville.

Dr. McDuffie.

For the Observer.]

MR. EDITOR:—It gives us great satisfaction and pleasure to know that this gentleman is regarded with so much favor as a suitable candidate to fill the vacancy now existing of Superintendent of the N. C. Insane Asylum.

The friends of Dr. McDuffie would hate to lose his citizenship of Fayetteville, and it would be a serious loss to our town; at the same time they desire his promotion to this high and honorable position, as a reward to patient merit and eminent abilities; therefore his friends have and do now urge his name as very suitable for this important place. They do not claim for him that he would be the best selection, but they confidently assert that no better could be made in this State, than Dr. William C. McDuffie.

He has made a study of diseases of the mind, and has peculiar qualification for the position, having distinguished himself here and elsewhere, on more than one occasion, as an able expert on insanity in its various phases and forms.

Of a genial disposition, highly gifted by nature, a graduate with distinction at one of the leading medical institutes of the country, popular in his manners, he makes troops of friends wherever he is known.

If the Board of Directors, who are to fill this vacancy, would search North Carolina over "from Currituck to Cherokee," we but voice the sentiment of his friends in Fayetteville and elsewhere, when we say that no better or more proper selection could be made than he. We say this without intending to reflect upon or detract in the least from the merits and capabilities of the many distinguished gentlemen who are candidates for this high and important trust.

Let Dr. McDuffie be selected, and he will reflect credit upon himself by the concentration of his master-mind for the relief of the unfortunate insane, and prove an honor to the Board who selected him, to the Institution and to the State of North Carolina.

Agricultural Articles.

For the Observer.]

Brother Farmers of Cumberland County:

I propose, through the kind indulgence of the editors of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER, to give you a series of short articles on the subject of farming.

In doing so, I shall not presume to reach the many who are so far in advance of myself as to forbid such presumption, but the few who are laboring and toiling on their small farms to provide for the good wife and children who are dependent on husband and father for a support.

My articles must be short and to the point. Next week my first will appear, which will be on the utility of grass-growing, and how to turn the same to the best account, for many of us have this year grown grass when and where we did not wish; but, as the rains descended and the grass grew, it now behooves us to save every blade we can, and, if possible, no longer dance to the tune of Yankee Doodle coarse hay.

My first article will be on grass: my last on the mortgage business.

Aug. 27, '89. W. DREWRY SMITH.

Manchester Cullings.

Miss Nannie McQueen, who has been spending some time with Mrs. J. E. Elliott, has returned to her home in Lumberton.

Miss Maggie Hall, who has had her home among us, and is loved for her kind and cheerful disposition, left recently for Asheville. While we wish her much joy, we will "grow sad at her wearisome stay."

Miss Janie Hicks has returned to her home at Faison, accompanied by Miss Janie McDiarmid. Boys, we are sorry that you "got left."

Such a small man! but a great hilper. Big business here—big business in New Berne—capable of managing both and much more—wonderful!

Miss Nellie McGilvary started on her long journey a few days since. We feared to say farewell. Before we meet again, what cometh—who can tell?

Mr. M. McD. Williams and his charming wife spent Sunday in our hamlet.

The Presbyterian Sunday School joined that of China Grove in a picnic the other day; we gathered up all the children we could carry, and they were all delighted. Mr. Geo. P. McNeill, of Fayetteville, was invited to deliver the address. He is too well-known to require comment.

BON AMI.

Classic Belmont.

Reported for the Observer.]

A dismal rainy day on Monday made the hearts of the young folks sink with apprehension, for fear that the anticipated German to be given in honor of Miss Hinsdale, of Raleigh, would have to be given up. The old folks, as they watched the torrents of rain falling, shook their wise heads and said "what fools these (young) mortals be" to think of venturing out upon such a night! But, ah! the heavens became propitious, the rain ceased. "the bright stars came out one by one," and by 9 o'clock the merriest party assembled in the dear old hall, and indeed "chased the flying hours with winged feet" 'mid mirth and youthful jollity.

Miss Hinsdale, H. F. Huske.

And so with the history of classic Belmont passed another and one of the most enjoyable of its many pleasant gatherings.

Little River Academy Dots.

Reported for the Observer.]

Though one of the largest country P. Os. in the county, Little River Academy has never had a place in the columns of the OBSERVER, so I will begin to give "her prominence" with this issue.

Crops in this section are very much damaged by the continued rains. We have seen no open bolls of cotton yet. Picking doesn't usually begin until about September 15th.

The Farmers' Alliance in this vicinity have taken a very decided stand on the bagging question. They have resolved not to use anything but cotton bagging for their cotton, and to patronize no gin that uses jute.

The Cape Fear Shingle Company are running at full capacity now. They expect to make their first shipment in a few days.

We are glad to welcome in our midst Mr. J. F. Ferrell, who with his assistant, Miss York, opened school at Little River Academy on the 26th.

Miss Alvis Long, a very pleasant young lady of Minneapolis, Minn., has just returned from a brief visit to Miss Fannie McBryde.

Glad to see in our midst Mr. W. G. Quakenbush, of Laurinburg, who spent a few days at Rev. D. D. McBryde's.

Mr. A. M. McBryde has just returned from a flying trip to Winston, where he attended the State Fruit Fair.

Senator W. L. Williams and family are spending the season at Eureka Springs.

Mr. J. M. Davis reports quite a pleasant trip to Wilmington, Southport and Wrightsville, where he has just spent a short while.

Miss Ross Smith leaves the last of this week for Peace Institute.

The Y. M. C. A. of this place is progressing very well. It now has about 70 members, and hopes to send several delegates to the District Convention which meets in Wilson September 20—22.

Mr. J. M. Hodges will please accept our congratulations. "It is a boy."

Hoping the editor and readers will pardon me for trespassing so long, I will bid you adieu until next week. COR.

Wade Items.

Two children of Mr. J. R. Bowden have died of dysentery, aged 4 and 6 years. The farmers have taken advantage of the fair weather to strip fodder. About 1,200 people were at the Masonic funeral of Hon. Neill S. Stewart, at Bluff Church, on the 18th inst. Evangelist Mack has been here, and is holding meetings at Bluff Church and McMillan Chapel.

Messrs. Alex. and D. A. McAllister, of this place, have recently made a visit to Carolina Beach.

Messrs. J. L. McDonald, of Jacksonville, Fla., W. W. Hogshead, of Farmville, Va., Alex McAllister, of Lumberton, N. C., and Miss Sudie Carr, of Wilson, N. C., have been visiting friends and relatives here.

Poisoned by a Calf.

My little boy broke out with ulcers and sores, the result of the saliva from a calf's mouth coming in contact with a cut finger. The ulcers were deep and very painful, and showed no inclination to heal. I used quite a number of remedies, with no benefit, but got Swift's Specific, and he improved with the first few doses and in a short time was sound and well of the poison, and his general health much improved JOHN T. HEARD.

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 15, 1889.

In 1883 I contracted Blood Poison of bad type, and was treated with mercury, potash and sarsaparilla mixtures, growing worse all the time. I took seven small bottles S. S. S., which cured me entirely, and no sign of the dreadful disease has returned. J. C. NANCE.

Hope Mills I. O. O. F. will be organized at Hope Mills on the evening of September 5th.

Boy Drowned.

A colored boy, whose name we could not learn, was drowned while in swimming in the Cape Fear River on Sunday last. At last accounts the body had not been recovered.

Don't Fail

to read the the announcement's in to-day's OBSERVER of Messrs. F. W. Thornton, McNeill & Co., R. T. Scanlin, H. R. Horne, H. B. Fuller, J. E. Garrett and W. N. Tillinghast, and Mrs. A. M. Allen and Miss Kate Matthews.

Heavy Rains.

A rain almost as heavy as that of Saturday, July 27th, fell here on Monday last. The air was very cool, too, and as the rain was probably general we fear bad news from cotton.

For Siam.

On the 10th of September Miss Nellie McGilvary, a charming North Carolina girl, will sail from San Francisco for Siam as a Missionary. Miss McGilvary will carry with her the best wishes of hosts of friends who wish her a safe and pleasant voyage.

Washouts.

The excessive rain-fall throughout the Cape Fear and Pee Dee sections since last Sunday has resulted in three washouts on the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad and five on the Carolina Central, all of which, however, have been repaired, and trains over the C. F. & Y. V. are running on schedule time.

Hear Us.

Capt. Cook Breeden of this city, the "genial knight of the grip" for R. M. Nimocks, tells us that the first new cotton of the '89 crop will be sold on the Fayetteville market Saturday, and that it will be brought up from South Carolina. Good farmers always sell their cotton where they get the highest prices, hence they come to Fayetteville. Another thing worthy of the notice of naval store manufacturers generally, viz: that Fayetteville pays more today for turpentine—hard and soft—than any other market in the State. Therefore, if you want the highest market prices for what you have to sell, come to Fayetteville, and if you want to buy anything our merchants will sell you as close as any merchant south of Baltimore. But always consult the columns of the OBSERVER when you go to make your choice.

Religious Notes.

The congregation of the Baptist Church has, we are glad to learn, extended a call to Rev. W. B. Oliver, who preached so acceptably here two Sundays ago.

Rev. Jno. M. Rose, the eloquent pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Greenville, S. C., will fill the pulpit of Rev. T. P. Barclay next Sunday.

Many of our townspeople avail themselves of the opportunity to hear the interesting discourses of Rev. Dr. J. C. Huske, by riding out on Sunday to his church two or three miles west of town.

The improvements on St. John's Episcopal Church are approaching completion, and will render it a very handsome place of worship.

Rev. Mr. McRoy, of Rock Hill, S. C., a member of the South Carolina Conference, who married Miss Cade, of this county, occupied the pulpit of the Hay Street M. E. Church last Sunday. His sermons were excellent—forcible, practical and earnest.

Death of Major Atkinson.

Maj. Roger Pleasants Atkinson, Chief Engineer of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, died at his residence in Greensboro, at three o'clock on Monday morning, 26th inst., aged 61 years.

Maj. Atkinson had been for some time a sufferer from disease of the heart, attacks of which had latterly been more severe and violent, and, in the discharge of his official duties, was prostrated at Mt. Airy a few days since—rallying sufficiently to justify his removal from the Central Hotel at that point to his home, where he expired after a brief period of acute suffering.

The deceased entered the civil engineer and railway service at the early age of 20 years, having been engaged throughout an honored and useful life in important positions on the railway lines of North Carolina, Virginia, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio. From July, 1883, to April, 1885, he was Assistant Engineer of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, and, from the latter date, occupied the position which he held at the time of his death.

None who were thrown in contact with him during his official life—and they were many and of all classes—or who enjoyed his society in private relations, will receive without a pang of poignant regret the news of the death of Maj. Atkinson, and a fervent invocation to the Divine Healer of hearts for the blessing of His consolation to the bereaved family and loved ones. Spotless in character, generous in heart, kind and genial in disposition, devoted to duty—the State has lost an upright citizen, society a gentleman, humanity a friend, and the circle of his home a fond father and husband in him whom the grave has just received.

THE INDEPENDENT LIGHT INFANTRY.

Celebration of the Ninety-Sixth Anniversary—Presentation of Prizes—Banquet at the Hotel LaFayette, Toasts, &c.

At 2 o'clock, P. M., on Friday last, the Independent Light infantry met at its armory and proceeded to the election of officers, as follows:

COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

Maj. J. A. McLauchlin, vice Maj. W. F. Campbell resigned.
1st Captain Jno. B. Broadfoot.
2nd " Jno. C. Vann.
3rd " J. C. Huske, Jr.
4th " C. H. McLauchlin.

These are all excellent officers, and well worthy of the corps who have selected them for duty and responsibility. Maj. W. F. Campbell retires with the affectionate esteem of his men and of the community which feels so much pride in this organization, having made an admirable commandant, and we feel that the trust accompanying the high position has been placed in no unworthy hands by the selection of Maj. J. A. McLauchlin.

The non-commissioned officers will be appointed.

CIVIL OFFICERS.

President—Capt. J. C. Vann.
First Vice-President—T. T. McGilvary.
Second Vice-President—S. H. Strange.
Third Vice-President—E. L. Pemberton.
Secretary—S. H. Strange.
Financial Secretary—T. J. Whitted.

The company was then formed, and marched to the shooting-ground at Robinson's Spring, where they engaged in target practice, and at 6 P. M. again took up the march, parading through Rowan, Green and Hay streets, preceded by the target, whose riddled condition attested the wouted skill of the marksmen, and evincing in evolutions, handling of arms, etc., that proficiency and precision in military exercise which win for this matchless corps the meed of unstinted praise everywhere and at all times.

In front of the Hotel LaFayette, in the parlors, at the windows and on the balconies of the hotel, and in groups on the opposite side of the street, a large crowd had assembled to hear and witness the presentation of prizes by Mr. N. A. Sinclair, who performed the pleasing duty assigned to him in a very happy effort, showing the cultured scholar, the easy speaker and fervent lover of people and country. His address was listened to with undiminished attention throughout, and elicited frequent hearty applause—especially in its tribute to the "gray" and to the ex-President of the Southern Confederacy. The prizes were—

To Capt. Jno. C. Vann, for a score of 22 out of a possible 25, first prize of a handsome silver berry-bowl.

To Private D. A. McMillan, for a score of 21, second prize of silver pitcher and goblet.

To Serg't E. L. Pemberton, for a score of 20, third prize of handsome tea set (presented by Prior & Son).

To Dr. W. C. McDuffie, for one who had never before won a prize, silver cup.

Returning to the armory, the company stacked arms, and, accompanied by their invited guests, repaired to the dining-room of the Hotel LaFayette, where dinner was served, doing all honor to the cuisine, larder and service of that excellent house of entertainment, and rejoicing the hearts and stomachs of the lovers of the good things of this life with the following

MENU.

Mock Turtle. Consomme.
Boiled Salmon and French Peas.
Sweet Pickles. Sliced Tomatoes.
Roast Spring Chicken, Giblet Sauce.
Roast Leg of Lamb, a la Braise.
Barbecued Pig—Stuffed.
Roast Beef, Dish Gravy.
Stewed Lobster, a la Maryland.
Queen Fritters, Maraschino Sauce.
Goose Pie with Olives.
Mashed Potatoes.
Baked Sweet Potatoes.
Lima Beans. French Peas.
English Plum Pudding, Brandy Sauce.
Lemon Pies. Jelly Cake.
Chocolate Drops. Assorted Cake.
Roman Punch. Vanilla Ice Cream.
Watermelon. Peaches. Grapes.
Assorted Nuts. French Coffee.

Before the guests were seated, Rev. Dr. J. C. Huske, of the Episcopal Church, invoked the Divine blessing.

Maj. W. F. Campbell, presiding at this delightful banquet, arose at the point in the feast of French coffee and fruits, to propose the regular toasts as follows:

The New South—She seeks no fires amid the ashes of the dead past. The hand of adverse fate struck down her mills, crumbled in ruins her factories, and scattered abroad her riches. Her stalwart sons are building stronger walls and loftier towers, and their industry is filling anew her coffers with wealth; but the wisdom, spotless integrity and illustrious character of their sires built monuments more beautiful than marble, more precious than gold, more lasting than time—and the New South has no niche in its beautiful temple of to-day too high to enshrine therein in enduring honor the memories of those who made the Old South the admiration of the world. Responded to by Mr. J. H. Myrover in a few remarks.

The North Carolina State Guard—The volunteer soldiery of a commonwealth foremost in every struggle for the preservation of civil liberty and constitutional rights. Faithful to country at the call to arms as they will ever be, and brave as their illustrious forefathers, their "victories in peace" shall be the inculcation and practice of virtue and the exemplification of an elevated standard of citizenship and true manhood. Responded to by Mr. D. H. McLean, of Harnett. He always gives us pleasure when it is our good fortune to hear him, whether in one of his finished oratorical efforts, or when brought to his feet, impromptu—but he was never more felicitous than on this occasion; he was brimful of wit, overflowing with humor, and impressive throughout by the force of his expression and the beauty of his language.

The Fayetteville Centennial—With the expiration of one hundred years, our people will assemble for the celebration on November 21st with a devotion as unswerving to the constitution, and a love as deep for the principles of pure republiconism, as inspired the memorable events of 1789. Responded to by his Honor Mayor N. W. Ray in a very interesting and impressive review of the centennial celebrations which have taken place within the past twelve or fifteen years, and with an explicit summary of the reasons why the approaching celebration of November will be especially significant and important.

The Day We Celebrate—The anniversary of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry, whose flag was uplifted, and caught on its folds the roseate light of the dawn of this great republic, nearly a century ago. Would you know the record of its 96 years, consult the brightest pages of your country's history. Responded to by Dr. W. C. McDuffie. The distinguished speaker had already won laurels on the field of emulative strife during the day, but on this arena of post prandial oratory he covered himself with glory. After contrasting his own magnificent efforts in the lists of markmanship with those of Mr. Geo. O'Hanlon and other wild "blazers" at the target, he reviewed the different "days we celebrate," and paid a fitting tribute to this "red-letter, field day" of Fayetteville—the anniversary of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry. The one fault of his speech was that it was modeled after Sam Weller's valentine to his sweetheart, Mary, making his hearers "wish there vas more on it."

The Veterans of 1861—Magnificent in the pride and flush of successful warfare, they are grand even in defeat. Responded to by Judge Jas. C. McRae, who paid a beautiful and eloquent eulogy to the soldiers of that stirring and eventful period, and feelingly endorsed the remarks of Mr. McLean in his tribute to the North Carolina State Guard.

At the conclusion of the toasts the presiding officer gave the signal for rising from the table, and the close was made of the day's celebration—one of the most pleasant among the many delightful celebrations which mark the recurring anniversaries of this ancient corps.

The people of Fayetteville, as well as the officers and members of the Company, were delighted to welcome the distinguished guest of the day, Gen. Anthony, commanding the State Guard of North Carolina.

Personal Poncilings.

Mr. R. M. Nimocks left Friday for Baltimore.

Mrs. A. D. Black has returned from a pleasant visit to Kenansville.

Mr. D. H. McLean, of Harnett, spent the day here last Friday, returning to Lillington Saturday.

Mr. Jas. R. Williams is rusticating at the Green Briar White Sulphur Springs for his health.

Mr. G. T. Adams, of Little River Academy, has gone to New Berne to take charge of the high school.

Capt. J. H. Currie and family passed through the city en route for Pittsboro, the home of Mrs. Currie.

Mr. M. J. Graham and wife returned to the city Tuesday from a pleasant visit to friends in Laurinburg.

Mrs. J. M. Chestnut and children, of Wilmington, N. C., are on a visit to their aunt, Mrs. W. Drewry Smith.

Messrs. K. Lewald and H. R. Novitzky have returned from the North, where they have been laying in heavy stocks of goods.

Mr. B. E. Sedberry and family have returned from Mt. Vernon Springs. Mr. S. is just 12 pounds heavier than when he left.

Prof. Edward E. Brittain, of the Mount Olive High School, paid his respects to the OBSERVER last week, on his way to South Carolina, his old home.

Messrs. J. S. Breece and G. W. Lawrence attended the Fruit Fair at Winston, and returned last Friday, much pleased with the exhibit generally.

Mr. J. W. Hollingsworth, accompanied by his sisters, Misses Emma and Bessie Hollingsworth, is at Mt. Vernon Springs for the remainder of the season.

We are glad to shake hands with Mr. N. J. McDuffie, now of Charlotte, and visiting home and friends:—an old friend of our newspaper days of '65 and '66.

We are glad to know that Mr. Jno. McDuffie, who has been recently suffering from severe illness, is now convalescent, and can be found at his business office by his friends.

Mr. Jas. F. Johnson, who is now with Mr. F. W. Thornton, will take leave of all his friends in a few days, to go to Charlotte and take a position as a traveling salesman in the mammoth dry goods house of S. Wittskowsky, where he hopes to serve his friends in the future.

Miss Mamie Bidgood, of Farmville, Va., who has been visiting her uncle, Mr. R. W. Bidgood, left for her home on Monday morning last, carrying with her the fervent wishes for her happiness which are entertained in the hearts of the many friends and admirers she has won during her stay in our midst.

We were glad to have a visit this week from Mr. J. DeL. Smith, who has just returned from Raleigh cured of his mental afflictions, much to the delight of his many friends in Fayetteville, who welcome him back. He speaks very kindly of Dr. Grissom, and seems to be fully convinced that the means resorted to by him were essential and for his own welfare.

Farmers' Exchange.

The prospectus of the Farmers' Exchange has been placed upon our table—a new weekly to be published in Fayetteville, "devoted to the interest of every industry in Cumberland county, and especially for the upbuilding of the Farmers' Alliance in this section, and the promotion of the Cumberland Fair"—praiseworthy objects, all of them.

It is to be published early in September by Messrs. J. & O. Evans—well-known citizens, who may be trusted to bend every effort to advance the welfare of their section—at $1 per year.

Postponed.

On account of the exceedingly inclement weather, the Mass Meeting in the interest of the Young Men's Christian Association, advertised to take place on Tuesday night last, has been postponed to next Monday night.

Reunion of the 51st Regiment.

A reunion of the 51st Regt., N. C. S. T. of the C. S. A., during the Centennial Celebration in November, is in contemplation by surviving members of the regiment, and we hope to see so excellent an idea carried out. If Messrs. Hall, McLelland, Bolton, G. C. Fisher, McArthur, Taylor, of Wilmington, and others will agitate and press the matter its success will be assured, and they can rely upon the OBSERVER to aid them in every way possible.

It is designed to have Gen. Clingman, the Brigade commander, present, if possible, and a reunion of the brave soldiers under his leadership would be impressive and touching. It is true, many of their comrades are gone; their brave Colonel, HECTOR MCKETHAN, is "resting under the shade of the trees" with Lee, and Jackson, and Stuart, whose flashing blades he followed with eager eye amid the fires of battle; but here, beside his tomb, they may pay tribute to his valor—here recall the memory of those dark but stirring days of duty and devotion.

Railway Accident.

The partial giving way of a portion of the Town Fork trestle, near Germanton, on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, last Saturday, precipitated through the wood-work the engine of train No. 2, on its way down from Mt. Airy. The engineer, Mr. Elijah Shepherd, received severe bruises about the head, and the fireman, Mr. Wm. McLauchlin, had an arm broken. There were no other casualties, the train remaining intact on the track.

There was some anxiety here on the receipt of the news of the accident. The Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway has such an unparalleled record for the vigilance and care of officials and employes—rewarded by such remarkable freedom from casualties—that it stirs us to hear of so much as a small break in the "even tenor" of affairs. Engine No. 19, which was drawing the train, is a perfect "Jumbo," and requires mighty good footing for safety.

Fine Fruit.

Mr. H. P. Davis yesterday presented to us some magnificent peaches—as fine as we have ever seen. We know no better name for them than the "Davis Peach," as he raised them from the seed, and is of the opinion, matured from experience, that as good fruit can be thus grown as by grafting. Mr Davis started to town with several bushels of these, and of course they were eagerly seized by buyers before he could reach Market Square.

MARRIED.

SESSOMS—BLEDSOE—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Thos. Bledsoe, on the 16th inst., Mr. BENJAMIN SESSOMS to Miss HATTIE BLEDSOE.

DIED.

MARTIN—At Sherwood, N. C., August 22nd, 1889, ZULEIKA HARALSON, second daughter of W. W. and E. W. Martin, aged 4 years and 7 months.

New Orleans City Times and Asheville papers please copy.

MCLEAN—MRS. CATAHRINE MCLEAN died at Orange, Texas, on the 29th ult., aged 63 years, 8 months and 4 days. Mrs. McLean came to Orange from Fayetteville, N. C., in December, 1886. Her brother, Col. Hugh Ochiltree, had preceded her nearly 35 years, and her son, A. O. McLean, of the firm of McLean & Curry, had long been established in business at this place. Her presence in our midst was due to her desire to be near her only brother and to be with her son. She became a member of the Presbyterian church in early childhood, and was conceded to be a faithful and devoted follower of her faith. She had been troubled with valvular disease of the heart for about six years, and the prostration resulting from frequent acute attacks of this affliction was the immediate cause of her death. She leaves a daughter and two sons to mourn her loss, besides a host of friends who will miss her gentle influence and kindly words.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THANKS!

On the eve of the Fall Season I would be direliet in my duty to my many patrons were I not to publicly tender thanks for their many favors and assure them of my hearty appreciation.

I THANK YOU, ONE AND ALL,

and promise to use renewed efforts to successfully cater to a patronage which is certainly a high compliment to my endeavors.

THIS SEASON

my display surpasses anything for variety, extent and bargains ever shown in the State. An examination is all we ask.

THE FACT

of my buying in so much larger quantities than any other dealer here (as is proven by the size of my store and stock) gives me a decided advantage in making prices less than can be obtained elsewhere.

OUR BUSINESS,

commencing September 1st, 1889, will be conducted under a strictly cash system. This plan we have gradually been drifting into for a number of years, and are ready for the change. Our books will be closed on date mentioned above. This rule applies of course to everybody.

OVER QUARTER OF CENTURY.

To my old friends and customers whose names have been on my books for over 25 years, and who have paid their bills promptly, I desire to tender my assurance of gratitude, and trust to retain their patronage under the new departure.

JUST RETURNED.

I have just returned from the Northern Markets, and present for your consideration the most complete and perfect lines in Dry Goods ever shown in this State.

PRICES WILL TELL

this season, and I propose making them, under my Cash System, so low for such good value as will surprise you.

Is All This True?

ROSE & LEAK

claim that their one-price cash store continues to enjoy the confidence and the liberal patronage of the people of this and the surrounding sections; that new customers are constantly coming in who say: It has been whispered from one neighbor to another, and from one settlement to another, that prevail at

Rose & Leak's Cash Store.

Rose & Leak claim that it is known in the country (as it is also well known in town) that only one price is asked or received at their store, that every customer i treated exactly alike, and that no fact or article is knowingly misrepresented by any one connected with their store. ROSE & LEAK do not claim but that they are the

ASSERT

Leaders in Low Prices,

as well as in the

CASH SYSTEM.

Those who have made the effort to

UNDERSELL THEM

have been forced to sell for

LESS THAN COST,

and the purchasers understand the situation, for they buy their baits but are careful to complete their purchases with ROSE & LEAK, sensibly concluding that this was the safest method. ROSE & LEAK are standing by the people and the people are standing by Rose & Leak.

ROSE & LEAK are extending their store, giving them a depth of 110 feet. They expect to continue to carry a large stock and to constantly increase their trade. They hope always to be able to keep prices down. They take this method of saying that they have refused every offer (and they have had several) to join with other merchants in restoring old prices.

Our Mr. Rose is now visiting in the Northern markets buying the largest and most complete line of Dry Goods we have ever brought to this market. Respectfully,

ROSE & LEAK.

FOR LOVE'S SAKE ONLY.

If thou must love me, let it be for naught,
Except for love's sake only. Do not say—
"I love her for her smile, her look, her way,
Of speaking gently—for a trick of thought
That falls in well with mine, and certes brought
A sense of pleasant ease on such a day;"
For these things in themselves, Beloved, may
Be changed, or change for thee—and love so wrought
May be unwrought so. Neither love me for Thine own dear pity's wiping my cheeks dry
Since we might well forget to weep who bore
Thy comfort long, and lose thy love thereby;
But love me for love's sake, that evermore,
Thou mayest love on through love's eternity.
—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

DOUBT.

Thou doubtest me? Then thou art not my friend.
Doubt is no child of friendship. Doubt may be
A passion's offspring, or the natural end
Of envious liking; but the fair, the free,
The morning child of friendship cannot bend
To narrow thoughts, nor any moment lend
To frowning questioning from ecstasy
Of soul-fed trust. Love's faith is love's degree.

My heart was full of love; to thee did pour
Its volume out as pure and strong of flow
As mountain cataract. Didst thou not know
The very rocks that bred the water's roar
But flung them faster to thy feet below?
Thou didst not know: thou wast my friend no more.
—Duvva Morgan-Smith in Home Journal.

Notes From a Farm.

Concord Standard.]

While in Odell's store at the factory, last Saturday, we saw something that tells a tale. Seeing Mr. C. J. Deal, who lives near Enochville, Rowan county, selling butter, we were struck with the quantity. We approached the gentleman and got the following facts:—("some farmers are so modest that they don't like to talk about crops," said a bystander) "I sell thirty-five pounds of butter each week at twenty cents per pound; I milk only six cows; from one I get enough milk in one day to make two pounds of butter, which showing lasted but a short time." "What do you do with the milk?" we asked. "I raise and fatten six hogs on the milk, always killing them at the age of ten to twelve months; they make me about $20 each." "Your other crops, if you please." "I have 175 acres in cultivation from which I get 350 bushels of wheat and 200 bushels of oats, and I count on 500 bushels of corn and 18 bales of cotton."

That butter business shows the worth of cows. The value of the butter made in one year is $364; the milk fed to hogs that make $120, together with the fertilizers, make the dairy business profitable. There is money in farming somewhere and sometimes. Mr. Deal has good backing—he lives near Cabarrus county.

Buying What They Should Raise.

Clinton Caucasian.]

We noticed a few evenings ago at the depot two car-loads of Western hay. We are told that seven or eight car-loads have been brought here within the past seven or eight months—and for whom? Not for our merchants alone, but for persons who live from one to twenty miles in the country, and who do nothing but farm.

We learn from Mr. J. E. Royal that not only hay but corn is bought by some of our farmers, and that within the last few months he has sold over 3,500 bushels. Messrs. T. H. Patrick & Bro., in connection with Mr. Richard Holmes, have sold over 6,000 bushels—and not only corn and hay but meat is brought from the West to feed an agricultural people in the East. One of our merchants has been selling from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds of meat per week, and that chiefly to farmers.

Now, this is simply appalling. If the farmer is going to buy meat, corn and forage, what on earth, we ask in all seriousness, is he going to pay for them with? There can be but one result: it means, sooner or later, agricultural bankruptcy.

Root Crops.

North Carolina Farmer.]

We wish we could impress upon every farmer the necessity of having a root crop on his farm. Roots should be raised for stock. It is well known that a root crop cleans the land of weeds. Turnips, beets, carrots and potatoes are raised in abundance with little labor. It is very true that hay and other fodder for stock is plenty as a general rule during the winter months, and produced with little expense, but for all that cattle should be fed on roots; they will be all the better for it when springtime comes. Lands are cheap. The labor required to raise a crop of roots is light; an acre well cultivated will produce from eight to ten tons of roots, and while a ton of beets will not go so far in keeping a cow as a ton of hay, yet put the two together or mix them, and the advantage will be very great.

Domestic Uses of Limewater.

There are few grown people—to say nothing of babies—who can drink milk with comfort unless it has a mixture of limewater. Those who commonly say milk "does not agree with them" can usually make it agree by adding one or two tablespoonfuls of limewater to the goblet or half pint of milk. It is well worth trying by those who complain of indigestion or billiousness, in drinking it by physician's prescription. Limewater by the gallon may be made for a few cents' worth of lime and pure water. The water will not take up any more than it can hold in suspension, so you can pour off all the clear liquid from one bottle and add more water to your remaining lime in your quart bottles. In Boston they are quoting a dentist who advises his patients to rinse the mouth and teeth several times a day freely with limewater, to "harden the enamel and arrest decay." Limewater, bathing of them, and coreecting acid deposits, may not be so much outside the question as it appears.—Ex.

A Business-like Offer.

For many years the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have offered, in good faith, $500 reward for a case of Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure. The Remedy is sold by druggists at only 50 cents. This wonderful remedy has fairly attained a world-wide reputation. If you have dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; if the eyes are weak, watery and inflamed; if there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice being changed and having a nasal twang; the breath offensive; smell and taste impaired; sensation of dizziness, with mental depression; a hacking cough and general debility—you are suffering from nasal catarrh. The more complicated your disease, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS.

It is an old saying that when "rogues fall out, honest men get their dues." The "rattling of dry bones" in the Republican camp of late has therefore resulted in some rather startling disclosures in Washington. Here is a specimen from the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald:

The discontent of the North Carolina Republicans with the way patronage has been handled is leading to some interesting disclosures regarding the campaign there last autumn. Senator Quay claims that he put into the hands of his private secretary, Mr. Frank Leach, $30,000 to save the North State for Harrison and Morton. His secretary says that he gave $5,000 to Mr. Estes for use in the district of Cheatham, the negro; $5,000 to Judge Settle's son, to elect Mr. Brower, and $5,000 for use in Congressman Ewart's district. The other $15,000 was used in other districts in the State, according to the claim of Senator Quay and his secretary.

The curious thing about the matter is that nobody can discover how the $5,000 in each of the Republican districts was expended, if it was expended at all. The Quay faction have been intimating pretty broadly that Estes put the money into his pocket, and as Estes was a division superintendent in the railway mail service they induced their good friend Postmaster General Wanamaker to turn him out. Estes is a fair sample of the men hurried into the railway mail service before the civil service rules, took effect to improve, according to the Republican journals, its efficacy and tone.

He was one of the managers for General Alger at Chicago, and there was some irritation among the Southern politicians over a story which got about that he charged the Alger campaign fund $500 a head for delegates, and only paid the delegates $300. It was no doubt considered a legitimate business transaction, but carping critics charged that the commission taken out was too high. Mr. Estes is now without a job because he had the temerity to deny that he had ever received from the Postmaster General's friend any of the money that was charged him.

But the same accusations come from the districts of Messrs. Brower and Ewart. Mr. Settle, the son of the late Judge Settle, admits that he received $3,000, and that seems to be properly accounted for, but the other $2,000 seems to have vanished. Congressman Ewart denies flatly that $5,000, or half that sum, was ever received in his district. He says that $1,200 was collected by Colonel Peterson and was wisely spent, but that was all.

The matter narrows down to a question of veracity between Quay and Leach on the one side and the three Congressmen, or their representatives, on the other. The money was raised, and whether pocketed by go-betweens or used in corrupting the colored voters is not very material. The story simply adds to the material for the history of the manner in which the present administration was foisted upon the country against a majority of five hundred thousand of the white voters.

MURFREESBORO, N. C.

Attention is called to the following facts:

FIRST. Only experienced teachers who have had special preparation for their work are placed in charge of the different departments, consequently the high grade of scholarship in all the departments.

SECOND. The location was selected in preference to many others because of the reputation of Murfreesboro for health, and the beauty of the situation. A recent visitor pronounces it the most beautiful spot he has seen in North Carolina.

THIRD. The health record of the young ladies is very gratifying. For years the average of doctor's bills has been only twenty-five cents per capita. During the last session, there was no case of sickness so serious as to need the presence of a physician.

FOURTH. Before the opening of the fall term, ten new rooms will be added and the dormitories will be furnished and carpeted. Only two young ladies will occupy the same room.

FIFTH. If a class of ten can be secured, arrangements have been made to have young ladies instructed in telegraphy and type-writing at a moderate cost.

SIXTH. The charges are as moderate as they can be made for the advantages offered. For these charges please see catalogue.

SEVENTH. Murfreesboro is seven miles from Conway, a station on the Roanoke and Tar River Railroad, which is a branch of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad. A line of hacks connect the two places. It is fourteen miles from Norfolk and Carolina Railroad with which it will be connected by steamers so soon as the road is completed to the Chowan River which will be about August 15th. This route will open up all Eastern Carolina, making the Institute most accessable to parties on all lines of road connecting with the Norfolk and Carolina Road.
